

Fuck you
For all That you've done
And thanks for the fuel
I've just begun

I was more shocked and stunned
I thought I was numb by now to your abuse
To The ever-present misuse
And seeing again that if you could choose
We would remain under the rug you tried sweeping is under

But light is seeping through though
We will rise anew,
and there is nothing you can do

Cause you fight like winter but we are here til spring
Into a new day
To Stay true to native ways
I know Shit's bad, but we've seen worse days

And that's the thing with nature you know,
Only what works stays

Even grass can grow through chains
And We remain in ceremony alleviating pains Rubbing away the stains that cover our soul

If only one thing
My one true goal
Is to inspire all to reach for the sky

To one day fly, like the sages who've come before

And Therefore
I won't bend the knee
I love you,
But I don't care how long it will take for you to open up and see

So I'll keep carrying on Refining my song Until it pierces even the most hardened heart Bringing it back to the very start of the most basic of thought

Of Love

o one another
And land aswell
The simple joy to travel

Knowing where you stand Remembering where you've been
And seeing where you've grown

Appreciating this treasure you've been shown

Knowing the value of your home

- Juvá Pittja